For informational purposes only. This report does not constitute investment advice, an offer, or a solicitation to buy or sell any security. Inclusion of any ETF in this report is not an endorsement by Inspire Investing, LLC.

Faith-based investing continues to gain adoption across a broad spectrum of values-driven strategies. This report aims to support greater awareness and informed decision-making in this growing space by presenting an analysis of U.S. faith-based ETFs. Using key metrics such as RIA adoption, assets under management (AUM), fund flows, liquidity, and expense ratios, this report offers an objective comparison of U.S. faith-based ETF offerings.

The funds included in this study were identified through a wide-ranging screen of ETFs explicitly marketed as faith-based by the fund provider. These include funds rooted in various religious traditions – such as Christian, Catholic, Jewish and Sharia-compliant investing approaches – regardless of denominational or doctrinal distinctions. A complete list of the ETFs covered in this report can be found in Appendix A.

It is important to note that inclusion in this analysis is based on each provider's claim of faith-based investment principles guiding fund construction. Methodologies vary significantly across providers, and inclusion in this report is not an endorsement of the screening, performance, quality or any other aspects of the funds by Inspire. We have endeavored to include all U.S. faith-based ETF's in this report, but due to fund providers' varying levels of transparency on their potential faith-based screening practices, we may have missed some and cannot guarantee that every ETF screened for faith-based values has been identified and included.

By presenting a data-driven, side-by-side view of these faith-based ETFs, this report seeks to contribute meaningfully to the education and understanding of the faith-based investing landscape. Whether you are an advisor, investor, or researcher, we hope this information serves as a valuable resource as the faith-based ETF marketplace continues to grow.

For informational purposes only. This report does not constitute investment advice, an offer, or a solicitation to buy or sell any security. Inclusion of any ETF in this report is not an endorsement by Inspire Investing, LLC. Inspire receives compensation as adviser to certain ETFs included herein. This presents a conflict of interest, as Inspire benefits from increased adoption of these funds.

Top 10 ETFs by RIA Adoption

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the highest total RIA adoption.

This analysis explores the U.S. faith-based ETFs with the greatest sum of registered investment advisor (RIA) adoption - driven by factors like product appeal and platform accessibility.

Global X's S&P 500 Catholic Values ETF (CATH) continues to hold the top spot, with 123 RIAs including it in their portfolios. Notably, CATH is also the longest standing U.S. faith-based ETF, launching over 9 years ago on April 18, 2016 - a case where longevity appears to confer an edge. In second place is the Inspire 100 ETF (BIBL), which, despite a shorter track record of nearly 8 years (inception date: October 30, 2017), has earned a strong foothold with 95 RIAs.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	RIA Count
CATH	Global X S&P 500 Catholic Values ETF	Global X	123

Top 10 ETFs by RIA Adoption Growth

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the largest total RIA adoption growth over the last quarter.

This analysis examines the U.S. faith-based ETFs that have seen the highest growth in adoption by registered investment advisors (RIAs) over the past quarter, highlighting those with the largest increase in RIA count – driven by factors such as growing product appeal and increased platform availability.

Inspire 500 ETF (PTL) led the pack again with 15 RIA adoptions added in the past quarter. Following closely behind is the Eventide High Dividend ETF (ELCV), which saw 6 new RIA adoptions last quarter. ELCV is also celebrating its one year anniversary, launching on September 30, 2024.

Top 10 ETF Gainers by AUM

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the largest increase in Assets Under Management (AUM) over the last quarter.

This analysis highlights the U.S. faith-based ETFs that experienced the strongest growth in assets under management (AUM) over the past quarter, reflecting a combination of market performance and net fund flows.

The SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF (SPUS) once again led all ETFs in AUM growth this quarter, posting an impressive $311.71 million increase. Trailing behind in second place was the Inspire 500 ETF (PTL), with a gain of $138.82 million.

Notably, SPUS also saw the highest level of inflows this quarter, impacting its position in our AUM rankings. For a more detailed breakdown of fund flows, see the "Top 10 ETF Gainers by Flows" report on page 9.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	AUM Gain (in millions)
SPUS	SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF	SP Funds	$311.71

Top 10 ETF Losers by AUM

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the greatest loss in Assets Under Management (AUM) over the last quarter.

This analysis spotlights the U.S. faith-based ETFs that saw the weakest AUM growth – or the largest declines – over the past quarter, reflecting the impact of both adverse market performance and net outflows.

Global X's S&P Catholic Values Developed ex-US ETF (CEFA) and Sovereign's Capital Flourish Fund (SOVF) experienced the steepest AUM declines this quarter, losing $2.59 million and $1.81 million, respectively. Notably, CEFA was also included in the "Top 10 ETF Losers by Flows" report on page 10, with outflow figures exceeding its overall AUM loss – indicating that its AUM decline was likely driven by investor divestment rather than investment performance.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	AUM Gain/Loss (in millions)
CEFA	Global X S&P Catholic Values Developed ex-US ETF	Global X	-$2.59
SOVF	Sovereign's Capital Flourish Fund	Sovereign's Capital	-$1.81

Top 10 ETFs by Total AUM

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the most Assets Under Management (AUM) at the end of the last quarter.

This analysis highlights the U.S. faith-based ETFs with the largest total assets under management (AUM) as of the end of the quarter, emphasizing those that have the most overall investor capital.

The SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF (SPUS) still leads the category with over $1.6 billion in total AUM. In second is the Global X S&P 500 Catholic Values ETF (CATH) with just over $1 billion in AUM, making it only the second U.S. faith-based fund to breach the $1 billion AUM mark.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	Total AUM (in millions)
SPUS	SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF	SP Funds	$1,613.41

Top 10 Fund Families by Total Faith-Based AUM

The Fund Families with the most total Assets Under Management (AUM) in Faith-Based ETFs at the end of the last quarter.

This analysis highlights the ETF providers with the largest total assets under management (AUM) in U.S. faith-based ETFs as of the end of the quarter, focusing on those that have the most investor capital within this specific segment. It's important to note that only faith-based ETF assets are included - AUM from non-faith-based funds or non-ETF products is excluded from these totals.

Inspire Investing remains the largest U.S. provider of faith-based ETFs, reaching over $2.338 billion in total AUM, a new milestone for U.S. faith-based ETFs. SP Funds follows closely behind with approximately $2.333 billion, the majority of which is concentrated in its flagship $1.6 billion S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF (SPUS).

Top 10 ETF Losers by Flows

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the largest negative flows over the last quarter.

This analysis highlights the U.S. faith-based ETFs that recorded the lowest net fund inflows or highest net fund outflows over the past quarter, signaling weaker investor demand.

The Timothy Plan High Dividend Stock ETF (TPHD) and Inspire 100 ETF (BIBL) posted the largest quarterly outflows this quarter – $19.24 million and $10.58 million, respectively.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	Prior 3 Month Flows (in millions)
TPHD	Timothy Plan High Dividend Stock ETF	Timothy Plan	-$19.24

Top 10 ETFs by Trading Volume

The U.S. Faith-Based ETFs with the highest 90-Day Average Daily Trading Volume at the end of the quarter.

This analysis identifies U.S. faith-based ETFs with the highest average trading volume over the past 90 days. While trading volume reflects market activity, it is not a reliable measure of a fund's true liquidity. For a more accurate assessment, please refer to the "Top 10 Most Liquid ETFs by Implied Liquidity" on page 12.

The SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF (SPUS) once again topped the list this quarter, posting a 90-day average daily traded volume of $18.08 million. This is in line with expectations, given SPUS's position as the largest U.S. faith-based ETF by total AUM. Trailing well behind in second place is the Wahed FTSE USA Sharia ETF (HLAL), with an average daily volume of $4.46 million.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	90-Day Avg Daily Traded Volume (in millions)
SPUS	SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF	SP Funds	$18.08

Top 10 Most Liquid ETFs by Implied Liquidity

The US Faith-Based ETFs with the highest Implied Liquidity at the end of the quarter.

This analysis highlights the U.S. faith-based ETFs with the highest Implied Liquidity at the end of the quarter – a measure of an ETF’s potential trading volume based on the liquidity of its underlying securities.

Implied liquidity estimates the size of a trade that, if executed in the ETF’s underlying securities, would reach the daily volume of the least liquid component in the fund’s basket. In other words, it assesses how much trading capacity an ETF can offer based on its most illiquid holdings.

The JLens 500 Jewish Advocacy U.S. ETF (TOV) and the newly launched Global X S&P 500 Christian Values ETF (CHRI) led the category with the highest levels of implied liquidity. This result is unsurprising given their exposure to mega-cap and large-cap stocks, as ETFs holding large, highly liquid securities typically score highest in this metric.

Ticker	Fund Name	Provider	Implied Liquidity (in millions)
TOV	JLens 500 Jewish Advocacy U.S. ETF	JLens	$35,120.39
CHRI	Global X S&P 500 Christian Values ETF	Global X	$26,442.92
SPUS	SP Funds S&P 500 Sharia Industry Exclusions ETF	SP Funds	$22,696.02

Top 10 Lowest-Cost ETFs by Expense Ratio

The US Faith-Based ETFs with the lowest expense ratios.

This analysis presents a straightforward ranking of U.S. faith-based ETFs with the lowest expense ratios.

The Inspire 500 ETF (PTL) remains the most cost-efficient option in the U.S. faith-based ETF space, with an expense ratio of just 9 basis points. The next most affordable, the JLens 500 Jewish Advocacy U.S. ETF (TOV), comes in at 18 basis points – twice the cost of PTL, yet still relatively low. Notably, every fund in this Top 10 list carries an expense ratio below the U.S. faith-based ETF average of 53 basis points, highlighting their competitive fee structures.

Appendix B: Definitions & Methodology

Faith-Based ETF: An exchange-traded fund that markets itself as applying religious or faith-aligned investment screens (e.g., Christian, Catholic, Shariah, or Jewish values).

RIA Adoption: Number of SEC-registered investment advisers (RIAs) including a fund in their disclosed 13F portfolios. RIA adoption is based on publicly disclosed holdings from Form 13F filings and third-party aggregators. Each firm is counted once per ETF, regardless of the number of accounts or quantity held.

AUM (Assets Under Management): The total market value of the assets that an ETF or fund manages on behalf of investors.

Net Flows: The difference between new investor contributions and withdrawals from an ETF during the reporting period.

Expense Ratio: The annual fee expressed as a percentage of fund assets deducted to cover operational expenses.

Implied Liquidity: A metric estimating how easily a security can be traded without significant price impact. Fund Inclusion Criteria: ETFs were screened based on publicly disclosed marketing materials, prospectuses, or websites that explicitly identify faith-based investment criteria. Inspire did not independently verify the screening rigor or ongoing compliance of these funds with their stated values.

Data Sources: AdvizorPro, Morningstar, ETF.com, fund company websites, SEC 13F filings. Data accessed in September 30, 2025

Limitations: This report may not capture all faith-based ETFs due to varying transparency and definitions used by fund providers.

ETF inclusion based on fund provider marketing claims of faith-based principles. Inspire Investing has not independently verified the faith alignment criteria of all listed funds.
